AT DELMAR.

Selections at Delmar to-day must be based on recent showings of the various condidates on the sort of going likely to prevail to-day. In the sticky footing over a good part of the course, Claremont, in the third event, seems to have the best

Claremont has been improving steadily since his arrival here. His last out was a second to Charley Thompson. It was a distant second, it is true, the Trotter entry being seven lengths in front at the finish, but Claremont made up much ground and ran a highly creditable race.

He should beat Tower and Short Cake in this race. St. Agnes will make her local bow as a 3-year-old in the third race, and if she is back to her last sea-form will have to be considered, son's form will have to be considered, But it appears as if the Bernays filly must be passed up to-day.

In the fourth race Kindred must be

27 UNION TRACK.

The indications are that the sandy, clay-coated track at Union Park will be slow if not heavy this afternoon. It is not likely to be sloppy, but owners yesterday had a pretty good line on what it would be to-day, and have made their entries accordingly. The fields average eight horses to a race, and few scratches

The feature to-day will be the J. P. Collins mile purse event. The race should be won by Pronta, who will only carry a kip of 113 pounds, and will be ridden by Sinclair.

Pronta's full capabilities have never been tried out, but enough has been seen of the Bellew mare to convince one that she is perhaps the most capable animal now racing at Union Park, mud or no

The race would appear to be between.

Ponta and W. G. Gates. There is but three pounds difference in weights, but Pronta has shown herself to be consistent in all her performances and Gates has been to some extent on the in-andcut order.

Kenova's local performance do not recommend her to be in the money in the field in which she is scheduled to start to-day. If the track is very heavy she is likely to be scratched. Rain or Shine is in light, and will doubtless be a contender, and will defeat Macbeth. BEARHUNTER LOOKS GOOD.

Rearhunter, on class and previous performance under track conditions that will exist to-day, should tuck the first race away handily. Golden Flower looks the only contender, and she has run two poor races since she won.

Lord Hermence is the only one in the third race that will give Miss Gould a hattle for first place. The distance, six furlongs, just suits the mare, and she revels in the going. Miss Gould should be a safe bet. Lord Hermence naturally is suggested for second place and King Crane to run third.

Tiomaine likes the mud and is due to win. Jim Ferrin is fast, and it will likely be between Tiomaine and Ferrin. The former is favored. Jim Gore may come to life, but hardly with liz pounds. Lucky Day should be in the money.

Ora Mckinney looks the best in the fifth race. She is in with ninety-one pounds, and will win if she runs her race. She is fond of the going. The last two races of Prince of Endurance command respect, and he will doubtiess be the contender at this finish. Wigwam yesterday showed that he liked the going, but can hardly go the route. hardly go the route.

The sixth race is made up of some splendid material for an evenity matched race, although not a derby. If Chicago Girl sticks to the form showed in other races the will be good for third money. Rampooza has a good chance to be in the money.

THE REPUBLIC'S DAILY RACING FORM CHARTS. FIVE FAVORITES FIRST AT DELMAR

With Exception of Opening Race, Choices Won All the Races on the Card.

For the first time in nearly two years the colors of W. H. Fizer were seen on a local course, his filly. Gasconne, capturing the opening race at Delmar from Tom Hayes's Zinda behind in the first quarter by the speedy Zinda, Gasconne worked her way around the curves in clever fashion, saved ground on each turn and seemed to fall into the on each turn and seemed to fall into the best going all the way through. She collared Zinda an eighth out and drew away in the closing strides.

Miss Powell, from the Baker stable, struck the bad going at the start and was hopelessly out of it by the time the stretch turn was reached.

Princess Orna a Hayes candidate, won the third race, also a 2-year-old event, in handy fashion from Gay Adelaide, who seems to have improved vastly of late. The latter filly will bear watching for subsequent races if she can run back to her form of yesterday.

Another purse went to the Hayes stable in the fourth race, when Jordan took the lead at the first turn and showed the way around the track for the rest of the way. Jack Young was moderately well supported in this event, but was almost thrown while his boy was trying to pull him sideways to get him out of the heavy going near the rail.

Trapsetter won the second race in the closing strides. He was much the best but was not pushed down the stretch and came up just in time to get the verdict over Matt Wadleigh.

Harry B. Hawes, who was held at 200 to 1 in one stage of the betting, came near getting third money in this race. He made a strong bid in the stretch for show position, passed Caybon, then swerved into the mud next the rail and was passed again by Caybon.

Neversuch ran a fair race in the last tion, passed Caybon, then swerved into the mud next the rail and was passed again by Caybon.

Neversuch ran a fair race in the last event and got up in time to win by a head, aithough he swerved all over the stretch in the run home. He had a bumping contest with Larry Wilt a sixteenth from home, and wobbled from side to side in the final strides, but was best, at that. Hucena ran an improved race over her last out, and was a strong second, while Larry Wilt was third.

Success of the Haves stable in the two prior events led to Dolly Gray being well played in the fifth race. Lasso was favorite, however, and won her third straight race in handy fashion. She was rated along in this event, instead of going to the front, and won nicely at the end. Alflo came strongly at the end and beat Doeskin for second money.

All events on the card except the opening race were won by favorites.

While Little Margaret, a false favorite, at even money, carried considerable money, the wise dollars were placed on Gus Lanka, at 8 and 7 to 1. As forecasted by The Republic, Gus Lanka was the logical horse to play, and many who followed the tip won large sums.

Red Light, the favorite in the fifth race, was heavily played at 2 to 1 and 2 to 1, and the Tammany filly rewarded her backers by winning handily from Rice's Wigwam and De Arman's Cheny; and, by the way, it will be well for followers of the races at the track to keep their eye on Cheny when out again.

The books were badly walloped on Lil-nanette in the first race and Dector Spruill in the second, both heavily played reverites.

Considering the heavy going the racing was good.

Spruill in the second, both nearly payed favorites.

Sowndly won the feature, the Duffy Handicap, and L. A. Goodwin, the owner of the mare, received a silver loving cup from Joseph Duffy, president of the Union Jockey Club.

Soundly turned the same trick on Miss Gould yesterday at five furiongs that she did on Rain or Shine at six furiongs hast she did on Rain or Shine at six furiongs last Wednesday. She broke no quickly and ran so fast for four furiongs that the animals of better staying qualities could not catch up before the wire was reached. Soundly demonstrated that she is as good in the mud as on a fast track. She is a versatile and shifty mare, and will be hard to beat at from six to four furiongs. Doctor Spruill, also selected to win by The Republic, justified the prediction in the second race. Dainy and Bird of Passage fought it out, driving for second place. The former got the place by a head.

At 8 to 1 Gus Lanka, another Republic selection, was the best bet of the day. Lanka won under a clever ride by Shilling, beating Jean Gravier by half a length. Lanka is perhaps the gamest animal that has come down the stretch at the new track.

In a small field Red Light had no trouble in winning the fifth race; neither did Setauket, the class, in the sixth.

The attendance yesterday was good for Monday. The J. P. Collins Handicap will be a feature to-day.
